

Why we need to clean the fridge?

Fridge is a convenient appliance that keeps our health by preserving food fresh for a long time. However, some germs can grow even at low temperatures inside the fridge, so we need to keep the inside of the fridge clean.

So when we need to clean the fridge? If you notice spills or caked-on food residue in your fridge, or smell an unpleasant odours whenever you open the door, it's a right time to clean. However, cleaning the fridge is a time-consuming and difficult task to do properly.

Instead of wasting your valuable time and effort on cleaning it yourself, consult a professional. Let someone else do the chores and you can focus on more important things or relax at home. Our fridge cleaning service can help you get rid of bad odours, and maintain your kitchen germ-free.

<Cleaning steps>

- Remove everything from the fridge and store into coolers
- Disassemble shelves, drawers and racks, and wash them.
- Wipe the interior of the fridge with a cleaning solution (we use special recipe with non-toxic, naturally degradable substances)
- Sterilize and clean once more with high-temperature steam
- Clean the rubber seals on the door where mould or dirt can build up
- Wipe the exterior of the fridge
- Removes dust and hair accumulated on the condenser coil (optional)
- Put all shelves, drawers and racks back in place.
- Rearrange the contents taken out for cleaning and put them back in, neatly with the skill of a housekeeping expert
